

Dodo Scratch Art

1. Turn your paper the "portrait" way & begin by sketching the top of the Dodo's head.

2. Draw the Dodo's big top beak first, then add the bottom of it.

3. Now continue on down to the shoulders, tummy, and tail.

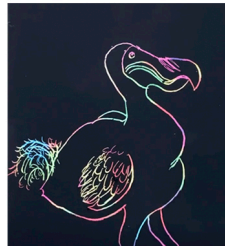

4. Next, draw the legs and feet. The feet should have five toes - two in back and three in front.

 5. Draw a wing, tail, and add details to the beak.

6. Now it's time for details! Add feathers on the wings, fluff on the tail, and lines on the feet.

 7. Scratch more little feathers into the body of the Dodo bird.

 8. Add a background of your choice or make the bird wading in water like you see here!

Woolly Mammoth Print

 1. Use your foam printmaking board & your ball-point pen to draw out the woolly mammoth's tusks.

2. Next, draw the head, trunk, and back.

3. Add legs and finish off the other side of the trunk.

4. We should be able to see three of his legs and eyes at this point. Add them if you still need to.

 5. Create a visual texture on the woolly mammoth by making short, vertical lines.

 6. Once your lines are all filled in and pressed down on the foam, get out the ink and brayer (foam roller).

Put ink on the cardboard box and roll it out. Then, roll that ink onto the foam sheet you drew on.

7. Next, take one of your small pieces of printmaking paper and flip the foam stamp ink-side-down onto the paper. Press, lift, and let your fantastic artwork dry!

 Sign your name & repeat again on the other paper!
